As featured on NBC and the TODAY show, meet the all female heart transplant team

In honor of Women's History Month, Donate Life Hollywood and the OneLegacy Media Team wants to highlight this outstanding all-women team from the University of California, San Francisco who performed a life-saving transplant.

These women made history by being the first all women team to perform a heart transplant surgery this past December. The cardiac surgeon, Dr. Amy Fiedler was in awe of the moment and stated "To be in a position at an institution where we have a woman cardiac surgery attending, a woman cardiothoracic anesthesiologist and then a woman cardiac surgery trainee, it's just really unique to have all of those pieces fall into place."
